

INFRINGING COPYRIGHT IS ILLEGAL.

CNA requires all employees and students to respect the intellectual property rights of others. A breach of copyright law can have serious legal and financial consequences.

The FAIR DEALING exception

Under the Copyright Act, anyone may make a copy of copyrighted work for the purposes of research, private study, criticism, review, news reporting, education, parody or satire, provided that the copying is “fair”.

Whether copying is “fair” requires consideration of all the circumstances. If you are a CNA student or employee, our Copyright Policy and Procedure (AC-118 and AC-118-PR) provide that you may make a single copy or scan of up to 10 per cent of a copyrighted work, or the following, whichever is greater:

- a) One chapter from a book;
- b) A single article from a periodical;
- c) An entire artistic work (including a painting, print, photograph, diagram, drawing, map, chart and plan) from a copyrighted work containing other artistic works;
- d) An entire newspaper article or page;
- e) An entire single poem or musical score from a copyrighted work containing other poems, or musical scores;
or
- f) An entire entry from an encyclopedia, dictionary, annotated bibliography or similar reference work.

If you are a CNA instructor, you may also distribute to each student registered in your course a single copy of the above as a class handout, or post it to a secure electronic system accessible only to registered students.

CNA prohibits the production or transmission of infringing copies using the equipment made available on its premises, and will not be responsible for any illegal copying/transmission beyond CNA's control.

*Adapted from Memorial University

For more information on copyright, including any of the points above, see CNA's policy on Copyright (AC-118 and AC-118-PR) or contact a CNA Librarian.